

NEW CLIENT INTAKE FORM & CONSENT FOR EQUINE / ANIMAL LASER THERAPY SERVICES

Please read this form carefully. Answer ALL QUESTIONS to the best of your ability. This consent must be completed prior to, or during your 1st visit. All information is confidential. We will never share your information with 3rd parties without your explicit consent, or if required by law. Please keep a copy of this consent and return pages 2, 3, and 6 to Lisa Humayun.

If your animal has an injury, illness, a serious medical condition, or a health-related concern, we strongly suggest consulting a veterinarian prior to therapy. Familiarizing yourself with the below information that reviews the benefits and risks will help avoid unwanted consequences.

WHAT IS 3B LASER THERAPY?

3B Laser Therapy is used by veterinarians and rehab specialists to accelerate the resolution of musculoskeletal conditions. Clinical improvements and recovery times from sports and other injuries are considerably reduced (with equine athletes returning to training and competitive fitness faster). The Super Pulsed 3B Laser is designed to treat a range of musculoskeletal conditions. It uses three wavelengths and advanced pulsed laser technology to reduce pain, enhance healing, and improve overall recovery by penetrating deep into tissues. The laser stimulates profound change at a deep cellular level - its many beneficial effects are highly interrelated: Tissue healing, Anti-Inflammatory, Muscular, and Analgesic.

How 3B LASER THERAPY WORKS

The 3B Laser device uses diodes (980nm, 810nm and 650nm diodes) to emit infrared laser beams in either continuous or pulsed phases. Continuous mode enables a gentler therapy of more superficial conditions, such as tendon and ligament injuries. Super-pulsed mode enables intensive treatment, with the intervals adding safety by preventing heat generation. The beams are carried via a fiber optic cable to the wand, which is aimed over the skin using the red light aiming beam. As therapy is delivered, infrared light penetrates the tissue, at the correct dosage, depth, and duration. The light energy causes biochemical changes to occur at the cellular level, stimulating cell proliferation leading to wound repair. Free nerve endings are also stimulated, blocking pain pathways and bringing rapid pain relief.
